HUMAN CLONING
A Scientific & Ethical Briefing

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 2002
1:15 PM TO 2:45 PM
Conference Room 4

WITH EXPERTS

Nigel M. Cameron, Ph.D.
Consultant in Bioethics & Public Policy
Executive Chairman, Center for Bioethics and Culture, Oakland, California
Executive Chair, Centre for Bioethics and Public Policy, London, England
Visiting Professor of Bioethics, Trinity International University, Deerfield, Illinois
Senior Fellow, Center for Bioethics and Human Dignity, Bannockburn, Illinois

Founding editor and chair of the board of trustees, Ethics and Medicine: An international journal of bioethics (1983-)

PhD, University of Edinburgh, 1982
BA, MA, Cambridge University, 1974, 1977

David A. Prentice, Ph.D.
Professor of Life Sciences
Indiana State University
Adjunct Professor, Medical & Molecular Genetics
Indiana University School of Medicine

Post-Doctoral, Cell Biology, July, 1981-Jan., 1983; Laboratory Director’s-funded; Los Alamos National Laboratory; Research Associate with Dr. Lawrence R. Gurley, Distinguished Laboratory Fellow.

Ph.D., Biochemistry, University of Kansas, May 18, 1981; graduated with honors; dissertation advisor—Dr. Paul A. Kitos, Dept. of Biochemistry.

B.S., Cellular Biology, University of Kansas, Jan. 13, 1978; grad. with honors.

Sponsored by the

J. Reuben Clark School of Law
Brigham Young University

This is an academic forum for open and full debate. The views expressed at this forum do not necessarily reflect the views of the J. Reuben Clark School of Law or its sponsoring university.